Interest invited in new affordable homes

Residents from in and around the Gainsborough area are being invited to register an interest in one of seven new affordable homes.

A unique opportunity has arisen to get a brand new stylish home in the sought after village of Gringley-on-the-Hill, through Lincolnshire based housing association Acis Group.

The prestigious Minster View development in Gringley, just outside Gainsborough, is being built by Miller Homes. Two different house types are on offer from Acis, with two-storey and three-storey three bedroom homes available.

Michelle Sleight, Property Sales Officer for Acis said:

“Minster View is a small exclusive development, ideally located within a short driving distance of Gainsborough, Bawtry, Retford and Doncaster. This will enable residents to enjoy all the benefits of rural living while having commuting and shopping facilities close to hand.”

Gringley-on-the-Hill is home to a small primary school, doctor's surgery, local pub and church.

Michelle added:

“Gringley is a small and friendly village with a strong sense of community spirit. It's an ideal place to raise a family and enjoy living in a beautiful part of the countryside, so we're delighted to be able to offer new homes in this picturesque rural location. All properties are fully central heated, with double glazed windows and an allocated parking space. We're inviting people to register their interest now, with the homes due for completion in November.”
