

Acis Group opens it's doors at local fun day

Residents of Gainsborough based housing association, Acis Group, visited their landlord at their Open Day on Saturday April 12th.

Free transport was arranged by the company to enable people to attend.

Families enjoyed entertainment including a bouncy castle and a craft stall hosted by local company, Gainsborough Adventure Playground Association, as well as stalls and information from the police, fire brigade and West Lindsey District Council.

FHM, who attended on the day, is currently working on a programme of refurbishment work on behalf of Acis in Sheffield in order to bring its properties up to the government's Decent Homes Standard. They have also recently been awarded the contract to carry out improvement works on Acis Group's properties in West Lindsey.

Vicky Jackson, Community Liaison Officer from FHM, said: "It was a great day to give people information and advice on the forthcoming programme of refurbishment which FHM is carrying out on behalf of Acis Group in Sheffield.

"The next couple of years are going to see major improvements to people's homes – with work to fit windows and doors already underway in Sheffield. FHM is delighted to be working with Acis to make this vision a reality for tenants."

Natasha Clarke, PR and Marketing Manager of Acis Group, commented: "The Open Day was led by tenants and everyone involved worked really hard to make sure the day was a success and something that would benefit our residents. There was great community spirit with several donations from local companies and feedback from the day has been fantastic – people had a great time!

"The Open Day gave residents the opportunity to speak to members of staff and find out about how they can get involved and make a difference. We are committed to involving residents to ensure that services we provide meet our customer's expectations and that the communities they live in are safe and secure."
