

Mike Richardson

Mike has been a tenant customer since 2007. During this time, he has gained an insight into how the company operates as a landlord.

He is a Risk Management Consultant and acts as a Sessional Social Worker with Rainer in Lincoln - an organisation that provides housing-related support to young people.

Throughout his working life he has developed many skills including strategic management, general business activities, finance, legal matters and community relations and needs.

Mike believes he is able to effectively reflect the needs and concerns of other residents, especially in relation to issues around repairs and effective communication. He has a particular interest in team working and managing diversity to ensure all community groups receive an unbiased and first class customer service.

Mike is enthusiastic and would welcome an opportunity to play a major role in the development of Acis as the provider of a 'three star' quality service.
